No matter what the world is like, as a society develops in each country, it is natural to see constructive and destructive ideas, uncompromising struggle between them, their positive and negative features. I have to say that these ideas come into being, they evolve, they eventually come to an end. The length of their lives depends on the people who follow them, the period of existence of the forces that drive them, especially the validity, populism, humanity and goodness of these ideas.

Since society is made up of people who have social relations with each other, in the process of their life activities, people create the material and spiritual benefits, spiritual and social environment necessary for their lives, and in the process they interact with each other. In addition, the various activities of human beings form the basis of their social life and, in turn, determine the development of society.

Civil peace is an important aspect of economic and social life, which determines the general living conditions and living standards and lifestyle of the population. Peace means that high levels of consumption are an important condition for living, as well as ensuring security. [2] If all material blessings are enough and life is in danger, if there is no peace in a person's life and family, then all efforts will be in vain. Civil peace and security means a state of peace of mind of a person who considers himself protected from any danger, protection from threats, threats in various spheres of human life.

Lack of civic literacy, legal education, legal culture and neglect of social problems, such as family and community upbringing, drug trafficking, various criminal acts, unemployment, promotion of unhealthy lifestyles by various groups, currents, defects such as material deprivation undermine the peace of citizens. From this point of view, these problems and threats will undoubtedly have a serious negative impact on the development of society.

"Today we are in a historic period - when our people set themselves noble and great goals, live in peace, relying primarily on their own strength and capabilities, to achieve great results in building a democratic state and civil society. We live in a time of great change." [1]

The untimely elimination of the existing problems in the life of the society, which is advancing towards such a social and spiritual development, can have a negative impact on its development, as well as disrupt the life of our citizens and society as a whole.

Consequently, the problems are diverse and include the following social types:

1. Neglect of civic literacy and legal education in families and communities.
2. Drug trafficking, various criminal acts, prostitution.
3. Unemployment is the promotion of unhealthy lifestyles by various groups, currents, the interpretation of all human desires as freedom, material deprivation.

In our country, the solution to this problem is to raise the morale of the people. Indeed, a spiritual person, out of a sense of humor, refrains from such abominations.

In our country, the interests of the people are paramount, and reforms must serve the people.

After all, it is our human and civic duty to further strengthen the independence of our Motherland, to protect it, to enhance the dignity of our country, to build a free society ruled by justice, fairness and religion, to build a prosperous life worthy of our working people. [3]

Building the great state we dream of requires all of us to have a strong will, faith, a sense of national pride, and a spiritual heritage inherited from our great ancestors. We must have strength in our hands and confidence in the future in our hearts. That way, there will be no threat to civilian peace. Our main task and sacred duty today is to open a worthy page in the history of Uzbekistan in our peaceful country and fill it with noble and noble deeds that will serve as an example for our generations, as well as to accurately reflect our glorious history through original sources. Today the people are a worthy contribution to the great future of our happy country.
