

THE USE OF MODERN METHODS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF SPEECH COMPETENCES IN THE 8TH GRADE SYUENTS

Nuriddinova Ulmasoy Vapoyevna

Tashkent State University, Department of General Linguistics

Annotation: In this article, the appearance of the literary language inherent in a certain sphere of social life, a certain colloquial situation is considered a style of speech. Words are divided into stylistically peculiar and stylistically neutral words according to the sign of specificity – non-specificity of speech. Words that apply only within the framework of a particular style of speech are stylistically peculiar words, words that do not have such a feature are called stylistically uncharacteristic or neutral words. Development of speech compensations of pupils of the 8th grade through text types. The text is the appearance of speech, and in terms of its function is a complete speech integrity. Each text has a complex structure and content, and opinions and comments are made about it as an example of oral and written creativity

Keywords: speech, compilation, speech styles, text, methodology, development.

Speech compensations of students of the 8 - th class. Competence is the ability to apply theoretical knowledge, practical skills and skills acquired in science in practice, using them in solving practical and theoretical issues encountered in everyday life. The composition of competency includes, in addition to pure professional knowledge, skills and skills, the characteristics of Initiative, cooperation, the ability to work in a group, communicative ability, real evaluation, logical thinking, sorting and access to information. Education aimed at the formation of compensations is an education aimed at the formation of compensations, the practical application of the knowledge, skills and skills acquired in students in their personal, professional and social activities.

Development of speech compensations of pupils of the 8th grade through text types. The text is the appearance of speech, and in terms of its function is a complete speech integrity. Each text has a complex structure and content, it is an example of oral and written creativity. In linguistics, the text is interpreted as a separate unit of language and the main object of the so-called sphere of Text Linguistics. The text is divided into two according to the sign of volume and content:

1. Types of text according to the size designation. 2. Types of text according to the purpose of the expression and the sign of the content. Types of text according to the size designation. The text is a form of written speech, formed on the basis of a large-scale means of communication, the product of speech activity, certain laws, rather than a sentence. The text is divided according to the size designation. When the minimum text in the artistic style is said, the lines devoted to the coverage of a subject, the expression of folk wisdom proverb, aphorisms, miniatures, satirical works, names, poetic and poetic excerpts, in general, the totality of several sentences covering a small subject is understood. The inner side of the text is united by the integrity of the content, the outer side by the connections of various forms, syntactic means.

2. According to the purpose and meaning of the expression, the artistic text can be divided into the following types: 1. Meaningful text of the story. 2. Fine text. 3. Meaningful text with comments. 4. Didactic text. 5. Meaningful text of the message. 6. Command meaningful text. 7. Emotional expression is a meaningful text. 1. Story meaningful texts-in such a text the author or the hero of the work tells the story of an event that he himself has heard, seen or witnessed from the beginning. Memories, memorabilia, fairy tales and narrations can be included in the type of narrative text. The style of the story is expressed mainly in the form of the past tense, the first person singular or plural.

The appearance of monologue speaking dominates even in the graphic text. The principal aspect of the shown thing is voiced first. Then it's followed by a description of the features and components that go with it.

To underscore the credibility of the notion being expressed, many arguments and opinions are quoted in such a document. One of the peculiarities of the argumentative style of text is justification, proof, or the attempt to justify itself or to introduce alternative arguments for the aim of protection.

An expressive or didactic text is one that is written with the intention of instructing, educating, or drawing inferences from what has been said. Proverbs, aphorisms, different life events, stories, and proverbs are used as examples in order to attain the purpose.

Message relevant messages - an informative text is a text that is structured or referred to report on an occurrence.

Command meaningful texts are a sort of text in which the command and tone of advise are guided by a sentence in the command declination, expressing the completion of a task or various restrictions.

Emotional expression meaningful texts-texts made with the aim of expressing a person's inner experiences, attitude to reality, with a specific emotional expression is called meaningful text.

In conclusion, we can claim that pupils in the 8th and 9th grades compensate for their speaking. In addition to pure professional knowledge, skills, and abilities, the traits of initiative, cooperation, the ability to work in a group, conversational ability, real evaluation, logical thinking, sorting, and access to information are included in the composition of competency. An education geared at the construction of compensations is one that focuses on the practical application of students' gained information, skills, and abilities in their personal, professional, and social activities.

REFERENCES:

1. Rafiev A. va b. Ona tili va adabiyot. – T.: G'afur G'ulom nomidagi adabiyot nashriyoti, 2014.
2. To'xliiev B. va b. «Adabiyot» darsligi – T.: 2016. 56-64 b.
3. To'xliiev B. Adabiyot o'qitish metodikasi. – T.: O'zbekiston Milliy kutubxonasi, 2010.